Credit for Prior Learning Policy and Procedure

CREDIT FOR PRIOR LEARNING POLICY AND PROCEDURE

1. Overview

Granting credit for prior learning ensures that students commence study both at a level that appropriately recognises their prior learning experiences, and are not required to repeat equivalent learning successfully undertaken in another context.

The Institute of International Studies (“the Institute”) is committed to develop open and accessible guidelines to granting credit towards a course of study on the basis of prior learning, whether from formal studies or professional work experience.

This policy is designed to both maximise the credit students can gain for learning already undertaken and preserve the integrity of learning outcomes or discipline requirements of the award to which it applies¹.

This policy incorporates the best practice principles outlined in the *AQF Qualifications Pathways Policy*².

The Institute's policy on the granting of credit will be:

- evidence based, clear, equitable, accessible and transparent;
- applied consistently and fairly with decisions subject to appeal and review;
- cognisant of all prior learning regardless of how, when and where it was acquired, provided that the prior learning is relevant and current and has a relationship to the learning outcomes of the course;
- academically defensible and take into account the students’ chance of success in a course;
- decided in a timely way;
- cognisant that pathways into and between awards are available to all students by furthering articulation pathways with other higher education and vocational training providers and facilitating transfer between courses at the Institute; and
- formally documented for the student including any reasons for not granting credit.

2. Granting of Credit

2.1 General Principles

- i. Entry to the Institute’s courses is based on specific published entry criteria and decisions regarding student selection will be in accordance with the Student Selection and Admissions Policy and Procedure.
- ii. An offer of credit does not guarantee admission into a specific course.
- iii. The assessment of the amount of credit to be granted in particular courses shall be determined by the Course Coordinator within the framework of this policy and must be reviewed by the Teaching and Learning Committee.

² Australian Qualifications Framework Handbook – January 2013

- iv. Regardless of the credit granted, the requirements of each course must be fulfilled.
- v. Credit can be given in the form of block, specified or unspecified credit.
- vi. Candidates for an award from the Institute are required to complete a minimum amount of the course through the Institute. The total credit granted for prior learning external to the Institute shall not exceed 50% of the total credit points required for the award toward which credit is sought.
- vii. The 50% may comprise a mixture of credit for formal study and credit for work experience, however no more than 20% credit will be granted for learning from relevant and documented work experience.
- viii. Those students seeking to enter the Master of Professional Accounting and who have already completed an Australian undergraduate degree in Accounting would normally not be considered for enrolment.
- ix. Credit granted for a specific course cannot automatically be transferred from one course to another.

2.2 Credit for Formal Studies

- i. Credit will not normally be granted for formal study completed more than ten years prior to application.
- ii. Credit may be granted for the successful completion of:
 - a. subjects which form part of an accredited course provided by a recognised higher education provider;
 - b. accredited courses at AQF Level 6 and above offered by a registered vocational training provider;
 - c. courses provided by a professional association or other similar body; and
 - d. training delivered by employers or other similar bodies.
- iii. Credit may be granted where there is substantial overlap (at least 75%) with content and/or learning outcomes of the Institute subject for which credit is claimed.
- iv. When assessing credit for formal studies the following will be taken into account:
 - a. the general educational practices and standards of the provider(s) or any accreditation obtained by such provider that may be relevant to the course under consideration;
 - b. the objectives of the particular course and the methods adopted to achieve those objectives;
 - c. admission requirements to the course;
 - d. the duration of the course, having regard to entry requirements and course objectives;
 - e. the breadth, depth and balance in the course material involved and the intellectual effort required;
 - f. the methods of assessment; and
 - g. any arrangements for practical training and experience as part of the course.

2.3 Credit for Learning from Work Experience

- i. Credit may be granted for work experience where that learning can be documented to the satisfaction of the Academic Director.
- ii. The onus shall be on the applicant to provide appropriate evidence or demonstrate the relevant skills, knowledge and understanding.
- iii. The maximum credit that can be granted for learning from work experience is 20% of the total credit points required for the course toward which credit is sought.
- iv. When assessing credit for work experience, the following will be taken into account:
 - a. authenticity - the applicant has actually demonstrated the learning outcomes that are being claimed;
 - b. currency - the learning outcomes are still valid and performable;
 - c. quality - the learning has reached the acceptable level;
 - d. relevance - the learning is applicable to the subject claimed;
 - e. transferability - the learning outcome can be applied outside the specific context in which it was learned; and
 - f. comparability - the prior learning is comparable in content and standard with the subject (s) of study in which credit is sought.

2.4 Internal Transfer Between Courses

- i. Credit may be granted when a student has completed subjects while undertaking a course with the Institute and wishes to transfer to another course within the Institute.
- ii. Credit will be granted for those subjects already undertaken which form part of the course into which the student is transferring.
- iii. The maximum credit that can be granted in these circumstances is not limited.

3. Applications

An application for credit based on prior learning must be made on the appropriate form at the time of application for admission to a course. The application should be accompanied by sufficient documentary evidence to support the application.

Assessment of the application will be undertaken by the Academic Director who will advise the applicant in writing of the result of their application. A record of any credit granted (including any reasons for not giving credit) will be signed by the Academic Director and the student and placed on the student's file.

It is the intention of this policy that students should be advised of the credit that is offered at the time they accept a place in a course.

The Course Coordinator will prepare an annual report for the Academic Board on decisions taken over the previous 12 months.

4. International Students

If the applicant is an international student applying for a study visa the following applies:

- Where credit is granted before the issue of a visa, the actual course duration in the Electronic Certificate of Enrolment (eCoE) issued to the student will be reduced.
- Where credit is granted after the issue of a visa, the Institute will report the change of course duration via the Provider Registration and International Students Management System (PRISMS).

If an international student is granted credit that shortens their course, it remains a visa condition that they continue to study full-time.

5. Articulation Arrangements (Credit Agreements)³

In line with national policy, the Institute will systematically negotiate agreements with other tertiary education providers to maximise the credit available to eligible students for entry into the Institute's courses. These agreements will provide credit for graduates of specific courses offered by recognised providers of tertiary education for subjects that form part of an Institute course.

When negotiating these agreements the Institute will take into account the comparability and equivalence of the articulating Institute's course, notably:

- the learning outcomes;
- the volume of learning;
- the content; and
- learning and assessment approaches.

In order to assess the quantum of credit that may be awarded, the Institute will map the specified learning outcomes for the course provided by the external Institute against the learning outcomes of subjects within the relevant Institute course.

The existence of a credit agreement does not preclude an individual student applying for additional credit under this policy.

The Academic Board will approve all articulation arrangements after evidence of the mapping of the learning outcomes of the external course against the relevant Institute course has been considered.

Once approved by the Academic Board, the articulation arrangement will be set out in a formal credit agreement, signed by both parties and recorded in a register of approved articulation agreements.

The Institute will make publicly available details of all current credit agreements in accordance with section 2.3 of the *AQF Qualifications Pathways Policy*⁴.

³ For the purposes of Schedule 1A of the Higher Education Support Act 2003 and the Australian Qualifications Framework 2013 articulation agreements are known as 'Credit Transfer Arrangements'. Articulation arrangements are also colloquially known as 'pathways'.

⁴ As set out in the Australian Qualifications Framework Handbook – January 2013.

5.1 Internal articulation arrangements

At the appropriate time, the Institute may develop internal articulation arrangements to enable graduates of lower AQF level courses offered by the Institute to articulate to higher AQF level courses offered by the Institute. The process for developing these arrangements and determining the quantum of credit will be the same for external articulation arrangements.

6. Appeals

A student may appeal against a decision denying the granting of credit. The grounds for appeal are that the decision is inconsistent with this policy. Appeals must be made in writing and lodged with the Academic Director within ten working days of the student receiving written notification of the decision. The Academic Director will respond to the appeal within twenty working days and may confirm or vary the decision. The Teaching and Learning Committee will review all decisions of the Academic Director in relation to appeals.

If a student remains dissatisfied with the outcome of their appeal against a decision regarding the award of credit they may utilise the Institute's grievance handling procedures.

8. Publication and review

This policy will be made available to all prospective and current students on the Institute's website to enable them to make well-informed choices between alternative pathways and take into account the credit that may be available to them. Prospective students will be advised in pre-enrolment materials and upon enrolment about this policy.

This policy will be regularly reviewed to maximise applicability to new and updated awards and to student and industry needs in line with section 4.3 of the Institute's Quality Assurance Framework.
